

Happiness is a thing for Kids...

It is an asset to the Community!

In a district where happy children predominate, you'll find youngsters developing into the finest type of future Canadian citizens.

But what of those other neighborhoods where, in dark streets ragged children, more often hungry than not, run wild — uncared for in their poverty!

In these places you will find the breeding ground of future criminals — their activities a constant source of misery, not only to themselves but to everyone about them.

And remember — with children, like apples, one bad one can easily spoil dozens of good ones. It is the responsibility of every parent to see that every child has an equal opportunity in the years to come.

A contribution to your Community Chest today is an investment in the future of your children and others. Member organizations of the Chest care for neglected children in their infancy; as they grow up, they are taken in and carefully supervised in surroundings — by the time they reach maturity, they have learned to care for themselves, and for their community. When the Red Feather canvasser calls on you, contribute all you can afford. Your support of this campaign is as important to you as the future of your community!

4'S MAY BE SUSPECTS

When you brush your teeth if your gums bleed even a few times a day, this is often the first sign of Gingivitis — gum inflammation which, if neglected, often leads to diseased Portholes. Then only one dentist can help. See him every 3 months. At once, help guard against Gingivitis by massaging your gums and brushing your teeth twice daily with Borah's Toothpaste. It will ward off infection and bring natural bright sparkling beauty to your teeth.

Fly in Supplies For North Rescue

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—(CP)—A RCAF Dakota yesterday flew from Winnipeg to the Arctic Circle on Southampton Island with supplies for the patrol group at Moffet Inlet, 400 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

The Church of England mission, which was severely injured Sept. 24, when a fire broke out in the Harbor, was charged after a sea-hunting trip and sent a bullet into his brain. Partial paralysis of the left side resulted.

Officers at the army's Prairie Command headquarters said the Dakota, which was shot down in the Arctic Circle, was carrying supplies for the patrol group at Moffet Inlet, 400 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Safe Crackers Get Loot Worth $25,000

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—(CP)—Safe-crackers escaped with gold and silver valued at $25,000 from the Shearman & Co. of Canada Ltd., at nearby Malton early today after a night of fire and looting.

The things being sold in two sales in the plant's penthouse apartment to obtain their loot. One explosion started a fire which was extinguished by the use of a sprinkler system.

The night watchman said two men with black stockings pulled over their heads jumped on him and tied his up, by which time there were two other men involved as he heard additional voices after he had been handcuffed with adhesive tape.

It recognizes the farm problem. During the last year it has provided about $25,000 to help 2,000 men, women and children to leave the farm.

"We want Dutch settlers in Canada," said a Canadian government official at The Hague. "They fit into our country more easily than the Dutch."

"EVERY TIME a Netherlands family moves to Canada we build up the potential market for Netherlands goods," said one prominent industrialist.

"They beg for them..."

Time to Do Something

The government of Saskatchewan has served notice that unless the deadlock is broken by the first of next week it will take over the idle packing plants in that province and put them in operation.

Whatever anyone may think of this ultimatum, it can hardly be surprising. These plants, all across Canada, are too important to the general welfare to be left idle indefinitely. It will be strange if other provinces do not also decide that the time has come to place the public interest above mere production resumed in this or some other way.

There has been no indication that even the Socialist government of Saskatchewan is anxious to take on the operation of packing plants. Elsewhere there is practically no inclination in that direction. But, one way or another, there will have to be in the national economy will have to be got into operation without further delay.

The provincial governments, the farmers and the consumers have been very patient in the matter. The farmers have sustained heavy losses. The consumers have been living under threat of a famine of meat supplies. Our overland trade with the U.S. is endangered by failure to deliver the goods as per agreement. The governments have not taken action to enforce the labor relations laws.

The tie-up has gone on long enough. It is time to get the plants going again.

The Real Danger

Eight members of Britain's House of Commons, after a Cook's tour of eastern Europe and a three-day interview with Molotov, announce that in their opinion "Russia doesn't want war."

If they expected to surprise the world with this discovery the tourists are doomed to disappointment, because few if any people anywhere have imagined that Russia did not want war. And because, otherwise inclined, not many would change their minds on the say-so of a party of casual observers who have made a hop-skip-and-jump trip through Sovietized territory and listened to what Mr. Molotov thought it appropriate to say to them.

The late Adolf Hitler did not want war. He wanted to boss Europe as the first step toward bowing the world; and only got into war because deception, intrigue and intimidation could not accomplish his ends.

As for British and other foreign visitors who went to Germany in pre-war days and came back to say that Hitler's intentions were peaceful, they were wrong. The British must have been full of the amateur fact-finders on prediction beat, for a couple of years before the fateful day when the Nazi forces were thrown across the Polish border.

Of course neither the rulers of Russia nor the people of that country want any more war. But Russia's rulers want more than enough. But Russia's rulers want to overthrow democratic governments wherever they can and replace these with bureaucratic patterns after their own and in political affiliation with it.

That way lies danger—not because Stalin and his colleagues want war but because free people will fight to protect their rights against foreign interference.

The Relief Dead-Line
President Truman says that starting with the first of December $580,000,000 will be needed for relief of distress in Europe to cover the interval until the Marshall Plan can come into effect. The executive, he explains, can scrape up enough money to keep supplies going forward for two months, but no longer without congressional action. Wherefore he sees a special session of Congress to be necessary if starvation is not to fall upon the older continent when December comes.

But, the President also foresees, there would be no point in calling Congress unless there is some assurance that Congress would vote the $580,000,000 needed. This assurance could only be gained if committees in each Republics held majorities endorse his view that stop-gap money can only be secured by vote of Congress. But the committees are scattered, some of the members in Europe. They could hardly assemble before November, which would make December the earliest time at which a special session could be called.

Ignoring these political angles and constitutional difficulties, the fact that Europe needs this huge emergency vote is one to stir the sympathy and apprehension of the public, alike in the United States and in Canada.

It is to be supposed that the congressmen who are now in Europe are not merely holidaying, but are spending time in a survey of the situation. Aside from their conclusions as to the urgency of immediate relief action, it is to be hoped they will bring back a clear explanation of why the countries over there have not made better progress in getting their land under crops and providing food for themselves.

It is more than two years since the fighting stopped. How much effort did the distressed people really put into the primary job of growing food in the summer of 1946 and the summer of 1947?

The Last Round-Up?

Commissioned to investigate the trouble between the orthodox Doukhobors and the Sons of Freedom, Judge Sullivan, opening hearings at South Sloon. The same day British Columbia police started another investigation in the same locality. They want to know how it happened that a sawmill was burned there the night before, but being satisfied that this was not evidence, it is British Columbia's misfortune, not its fault, that successive governments of that province have had the Doukhobor problem on their hands. That was not the area in which these people settled when they came to Canada. Their original location was at Yorkton, which they speedily abandoned, so the curious contribution they intended to make to the enrichment of things in the new country.

But an obdurate Saskatchewan minister of education insisted that they must send their children to school, and the equally positive Manitoba Justice said nude parades were taboo. The new members sent out at Yorkton and moved to British Columbia, perhaps thinking they would be less interfered with in sequestered valleys than on the wide open plains.

In their new home the "peculiar people" developed a cleavage. The more stable or more "transient" ones, as the orthodox Doukhobors began to take on Canadian ways. But the militant minority, who call themselves the Sons of Freedom, held still to the idea that learning is sinful and the law an engine of oppression calculated to curb their spiritual liberty.

So far as appearance goes, the root of the present trouble has been the Sons of Freedom trying to convert the orthodox Doukhobors back to the traditions of ignorance and a type of piety exemplified by occasional shedding of clothes in public; in which makeshift effort they are accused of burning schools and houses in churches and intimidating the orthodox farmers.

It is the business of Judge Sullivan to look into these activities and accusations. Following which the B.C. government is expected to take measures to bring peace in the disturbed and disturbing areas. What measures, and how far, is probably asking themselves with a good deal of misgiving, certainly with some anxiety.

Five Fliers Honored

Name Alta. Lakes After Air Heroes

Names of five Alberta airmen, who died in the service of their country and who earned decorations in action, will be perpetuated in the names of five lakes north and east of Beaverlodge, according to announcement Thursday by Mrs. E. Gostick of the Alberta Geographic Board.

WILKIN LAKE is named after Sgt. L. R. Wilkin, DFC, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wilkin, 1014 Connaught Drive, who enlisted in Edmonton early in the war. Sgt. L. R. Wilkin was awarded the DFC for his courage and spirited example. He also was mentioned in despatches and won the Czech Military Cross.

Martin Lake is named in memory of P.O. S. S. Martin, DFC, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Martin, 1014 Connaught Drive, who enlisted in Edmonton early in the war. Sgt. L. R. Wilkin was awarded the DFC for his courage and spirited example. He also was mentioned in despatches and won the Czech Military Cross.

Whitlock Lake will recall P.O. J. J. Whitlock, DFC, who enlisted in the army and served in the 121st Infantry. This officer enlisted in October, 1940 and was reported missing on Aug. 28, 1942.

P. O. J. W. POWELL'S name has been given to another lake in the area. He was a native of Picardville and was educated in Thorburn before his enlistment in March 1940. He was awarded the DFC for his distinguished record in action and was reported missing on June 27, 1942. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Powell.

Wing Commander J. B. McNeill, DFC, is the fifth Alberta whose name will be given to a lake. He was a Calgary airman, decorated early in the war. He met his death in a flying accident in August, 1941.

RCAF Bomber Hero

Will Speak Here

Wing Commander J. B. McNeill, hero of RCAF bomber warfare, will speak on the subject "Political, Economic and Military Conditions in Europe Today," at a general meeting of the Edmonton United Services Institute, in the Prince of Wales Army Club, Oct. 17 at 8 p.m.

Since the war ended, he has been searching for missing Canadian airmen all over Europe. In this way he has gained first-hand knowledge of conditions overseas as they are today.

London Fog Child's Play

Queen Elizabeth Gets Lost In U.S. "Pea Soup" Fog

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Queen Elizabeth knows now that London fog is no more than a child's play. She learned this when she was delayed for several hours yesterday when a heavy fog settled over New York City, halting shipping and plane schedules.

The world's largest liner was "lost" for several hours yesterday when a heavy fog settled over New York City, halting shipping and plane schedules. Originally scheduled to dock at 8 a.m. EST, the ship had to wait down two hours earlier three miles off Ambrose Light because of the dense fog.

At 7 a.m. a pilot boat was sent to guide the huge ship into port but returned and reported to quarantine she had been unable to find the huge vessel. When the fog lifted several hours later, the tide had changed, forcing the Cunard White Star line to delay her docking until 10 p.m. after she had been scheduled earlier.

Twenty other vessels lay motionless outside the harbor fully basting their horns into the fog, described by harbor police as the thickest in many years.

The fog settled over the New York metropolitan area at about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday night. American Airlines announced it cancelled all flights between Newark and Boston. Ferries ran 12 to 30 minutes late. Trans-Atlantic plane flights were delayed or cancelled.

Story of Battleship Revealed

Prince of Wales Vindicated Of "Coward Ship" Stigma

LONDON, Oct. 17. (CPI)—The wartime career of the HMS Prince of Wales was vindicated by a dispatch of admiralty dispatches which disclose the British battleship did not "run away" during a 10-minute engagement with the German battleship Bismarck in 1941.

Because the dispatches were secret until now, the British man crew of the £300,000 battleship, later sunk in the Pacific, heard their vessel called "coward ship," endured the jeers of other seamen and saw scolding inscriptions scrawled on walls in naval towns.

The dispatches reveal that the Prince of Wales, involved in the action without being "broken in," had to break off the engagement because her guns were hopelessly faulty and inaccurate. She was seen to be hit by seven shells.

The commander of the Prince of Wales, Capt. John C. Leach, said in the dispatch that two main factors prompted him to turn away after HMS Hood was sunk by a U-boat during the chase of the Bismarck in the North Atlantic. They were:

1. "It was a practical certainty that owing to mechanical trouble the main armament was not to be expected to work up to the point where she was considered reasonably fit to take part in severe operations, and the men handling the guns were inexperienced."

The decision to break off the action was ordered by Rear Admiral William F. Wake-Walker, who said he had seen the Prince of Wales "forced out of action after a 10-minute engagement at the end of which her salvers were falling short... and her bridge wrecked."

The Prince of Wales was not in a "state of efficiency worth her face value." The facts were not disclosed today. The Prince of Wales crew later were mocked with names like "POWS" (prisoners-of-war) who "ran away."

Even the ship's officers found themselves cold-shouldered by other men. The Prince of Wales took part in the Atlantic meeting with President Roosevelt off Newfoundland and later was sent to the Far East where she was

German Plants For Reparations

For Reparations

BERLIN, Oct. 17. (AP)—The British and United States military governments announced yesterday plans to dismantle 600 German industrial and war plants in the two zones for reparations, and warned that the program would be carried through despite threats of resistance from Germans.

The announcement stated that the dismantling would be carried out as rapidly as possible, to expedite European economic recovery, and the German people were urged to cooperate.

"It is evident of cooperation there is conflict, any hope of reviving the German economy will disappear," said a statement by the British 14-Ges. Sir Brito. Robertson, British occupation forces commander, said in an address broadcast to the Germans.

Fear Life Lost In Hotel Blaze

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. Oct. 17. (CPI)—Five of 10 under-entertained guests early today destroyed the $60,000 hotel here and fear life was lost. A fire broke out in the Indian woman, last seen in the hotel, may have been a victim of the blaze.

All other guests of the four-story, new frame hotel, however, were able to escape in time to safety.

The fire, which also damaged a nearby apartment block, for a time threatened the former United States Army administration building—a half-block sized structure now owned by war assets and up for disposal—but was brought under control by volunteer firefighters who were assisted by a driving rain.

Police in this Northern British Columbia coast city were carrying on an intensive search for the Indian woman, whose name, Okavik, was reported hearing screams from the hotel but the terrible heat from the 40-foot flames blocked early efforts to get near the building.

The hotel, overlooking the waterfront, was a landmark in the community. Built in 1938, it was bought 18 months ago by Theodore Haglund of Lethbridge, Alta.

Has No Comment On Grain Ceilings
 Winnipeg, Oct. 17.—(CP)—Officials of the Canadian Wheat Board yesterday said they know nothing of reports that a recommendation had been made to the federal government that price ceilings on oats and barley be elevated to a fixed level which was to be held until the termination of the current crop year, July 31, 1948. W. C. McNamee, assistant chief commissioner of the board, said "It is all news to me". Apart from that, he had no further comment.

Investigation Ordered

Blame Prices in U.S. On Grain Gambling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Truman yesterday blamed high food prices in the United States largely on what he called gambling in the grain exchange and said Attorney-General Tom Clark is investigating.

In addition, the president said, Clark is investigating gambling in futures. Agriculture department officials said cotton is the main fibre in which there is speculation. Wool is the other principal fibre.

At a press conference devoted mainly to the trucking food and foreign-aid programs, Truman also said:

A special session of Congress on of restoring rationing and price controls is a bridge that will be crossed at that time.

When a reporter suggested food prices might come down if the United States exported less food, Truman said that was a piece of misinformation.

The president attributed lofty prices to what he called "speculation" and "gambling" in the grain exchange. He said the wheat crop had been traded eight or nine times on the Chicago grain market.

At one point Truman said only $100,000,000 of grain has been exported from the United States.

A bit later a reporter remarked that the present export goal of 100,000,000 bushels represents more than a third of the crop that has been exported, the president replied.

"THE DRIVE TO save 100,000,000 bushels of grain to help feed the hungry abroad is well on the way to success. Should the campaign fall after a 'test run,' the question

May Pipe Peace To Coast

VICTORIA, Oct. 17.—(CP)—Possibility that natural gas may be piped all the way from Peace River to Vancouver was seen by Premier John Hart yesterday discussing extension of the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Six major oil companies have applied for permits to explore the Peace River country for oil, he said, following passage at the last session of the Legislature of an act giving basic land companies prospecting rights over 250,000 acres.

Mr. Hart also announced that experts had been appointed to study the question of extending the vast coal reserves uncovered in recent surveys of the Peace River country.

Following a special cabinet meeting Thursday, Premier Hart said the PGE, when extended into the Peace River country, would be the main artery for freightage of oil, coal and farm products to southern markets, including the United States.

He said that if negotiations for partnership in extension of the line by the two transcontinental railways and the Dominion government failed, he would reopen negotiations with United States interests who this week were making overtures for right-of-way through British Columbia to Alaska.

B.C. Tennis Star Critically Hurt

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Police reported that Walter Stohberg of Vancouver, and his wife Mildred, were critically injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a switch engine at a railway crossing in Santa Maria Culhuacan.

Stohberg has been playing in the Pan-American tennis tournament in Mexico City.

The driver of the car, Ponce Lora, son of the traffic director of Mexican National Railways, was reported killed.

The Stohbergs were taken to the Central Red Cross Hospital for treatment.

Stohberg, ranked among the first five Canadian tennis players, was eliminated in the first round of the men's singles in the tournament by Jory Lara of Mexico. Lara was eliminated from the men's doubles yesterday, teamed with Brendan Macken of Montreal.

Doctors at the Red Cross Hospital said the Stohbergs were taken immediately to the operating room and that no details were available as to the extent of their injuries.

Believe B.C. Ship To Be Total Loss

POWELL RIVER, B.C., Oct. 17.—(CP)—Salvage officials said last night they believed the $100,000 passenger motorship "Gulf Stream" which crashed into Barnes Island, Nook eight miles north of here, Saturday night drowning five persons, would be a complete loss.

They said cost of salvage and refitting the vessel would be too great as damage to the twin-diesel engine alone was more than $60,000.

Kodak Develops Periscope Camera

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Eastman Kodak Company yesterday made public its development of a submarine periscope camera that can be used to snap shore-line pictures at better than one picture a second. Kodak said that the first of the new models were delivered to the United States Navy late in the war and that delivery to the submarine fleet now had been completed. However, information about the camera previously was restricted.

Huge Chunk Jade Found in Alaska

SEATTLE, Oct. 17.—(AP)—A third of a ton of Alaska jade, quarried in a single day this summer in the Kobuk Valley, 30 miles above the Arctic Circle in Western Alaska, was flown to Chicago last night by George Van Hagen, Chicago wholesaler.

The jade was about four feet long and 18 by 26 inches in depth and width. Van Hagen said he did not know its exact value.

Isotopes Big Help

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 17.—(AP)—New research, including use of radioisotopes, promising successful attacks on many human diseases and in solving some basic mysteries of the Institute of Medical Research, was reported today by Dr. Wendell Stanley of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research.

"THIS RESEARCH includes studies of viruses, the chemical agents that cause infantile paralysis, influenza, common colds and other diseases," Dr. Stanley said.

The 100th anniversary celebration of the University of Sheffield Science School.

Dr. Stanley, Nobel Prize winner and pioneer in virus research, said more than 300 different viruses capable of causing disease in man, animals, and plants have been discovered. Viruses can breathe, eat, and reproduce themselves when they enter certain cells of their host.

But it is not yet known what chemical structure is necessary for the virus activity, how viruses reproduce, or how certain changes can occur that sometimes make their progeny different from the parent. The same kind of changes occur in genes, the master molecules that determine inherited characteristics. In some respects viruses are strikingly similar to the genes.

NEW EXPERIMENTS with radio-isotopes or "tagged" atoms may help show how viruses reproduce, he said.

Other tests indicated it may be possible to change the chemical structure of the virus by known chemical means, and that the viruses then would produce young viruses having these same alterations.

This would open the way "not only to production of new virus strains, some of which might prove useful as vaccines, but also to a direct study of the exact chemical structure necessary for virus activity."

Such work also might supply clues to how genes act in humans, and how inheritance could be influenced.

Ask Explanation Decontrol Policy

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—(CP)—The Co-Operative Union of Canada, a national federation of co-operatives, yesterday called on the federal government to explain the policy of decontrol has been pursued at this time and to "state what alternative methods it proposes to employ in checking the spiral of inflation."

In a resolution approved by its national board of directors and member co-operative bodies across Canada, and submitted to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Finance Minister Abbott, the union saw an "alarming prospect of disastrous deflation."

It called on the government to recognize that the reverse of the primary producer and of labor must have some reasonable relationship to the cost of living, and that people in such groups should not be penalized by the evils of inflation which have more heavily on the community than upon other groups in the community.

Ask Explanation Decontrol Policy

OTTAWA, Oct. 17.—(CP)—The Co-Operative Union of Canada, a national federation of co-operatives, yesterday called on the federal government to explain the policy of decontrol has been pursued at this time and to "state what alternative methods it proposes to employ in checking the spiral of inflation."

In a resolution approved by its national board of directors and member co-operative bodies across Canada, and submitted to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Finance Minister Abbott, the union saw an "alarming prospect of disastrous deflation."

It called on the government to recognize that the reverse of the primary producer and of labor must have some reasonable relationship to the cost of living, and that people in such groups should not be penalized by the evils of inflation which have more heavily on the community than upon other groups in the community.

Gallant Fight—Impossible Odds

Great 1,750-Mile Sea Chase, Death Of Bismarck Recounted

ONDON, Oct. 17.—(Reuters)—The 1,750-mile chase of the German battleship Bismarck in May, 1941, and her sinking after a "gallant fight against impossible odds" were described today in Royal Navy despatches published in a supplement to the London Gazette.

THE 36,000-TON Bismarck, one of the largest battleships in the world was sunk about 500 miles off the coast of Brazil after a running battle with the Royal Navy and the RAF after the 43,000-ton battleship was sighted on May 26.

A graphic dispatch from Admiral Sir John Tovey, commander-in-chief Home Fleet, described the end of the Bismarck when she was finally cornered and pounded by the British fleet after her attempt to break out into the Atlantic to attack Allied shipping routes.

The Bismarck was a wreck without a gun firing in the air and aft and wallowing more heavily "very much" as Sir John wrote.

Men could be seen jumping overboard, struggling in the water and drowning in the stormy sea in the aftermath of our fire.

THE DISPATCHES showed that the first sight of the Bismarck was in early May when increased German air reconnaissance between Iceland and Greenland suggested that a German warship might attempt to break out from the North Sea to play havoc with Allied shipping in the Atlantic.

On May 21 two heavily screened warships—the Bismarck and the Cruiser Prinz Eugen—were sighted by RAF planes off the coast of Norway heading northwards.

British warships were dispatched to block the way between Iceland and the Faroe Islands and to guard the Denmark strait between Iceland and Greenland.

ON MAY 23 THE cruisers Suffolk and Norfolk sighted the Bismarck and Prinz Eugen in the Denmark strait steaming southwest for the Atlantic and began shadow them. The Hood and the battleship Prince of Wales closed in across the path of the advancing enemy warships.

Early on May 24 they joined battle but Bismarck's second or third salvo started a fire in the Hood which spread rapidly.

Shortly afterwards the Hood was straddled again. There was a huge explosion between the after funnel and the mainmast and the ship sank in three or four minutes.

Sir John said.

THE ENEMY NOW turned south. It was later learned that damage in the engagement with the Hood, the Bismarck had decided to make for a French port, planning to attempt to break into the Atlantic.

It was feared that because of her exceptional speed the Bismarck might escape before the battle fleet could close with her, a torpedo bomber attack was launched from the aircraft carrier Victorious.

A Swordfish squadron of nine aircraft, despite bad weather, scored at least one hit, which, Sir John said, was "largely responsible for the Bismarck being finally brought to action and sunk."

Late on May 24 Prinz Eugen parted company with the battleship and early on the 25th the shadowing British warships lost touch with the Bismarck.

After fruitless searches by air and ships, D.F. (direction-finding) bearings on signals picked up by the admiralty located the Bismarck on an easterly course apparently making for Brazil and with a lead of 100 miles.

THE BATTLESHIP King George V and Rodney and the cruisers Norfolk and Edinburgh now took the chase in earnest, steaming in the wake of the Bismarck towards the Bay of Biscay.

Meanwhile the battle cruiser Renown, the cruiser Sheffield and aircraft carrier Ark Royal hastened northwards from a position some miles off the coast of Portugal.

Aircraft from Ark Royal located the enemy and made two torpedo attacks the second of which badly damaged the Bismarck's rudder.

The fourth destroyer flotilla, including the Polish destroyer Piorun, was given the task of holding Bismarck while the King George V and the Rodney worked round to westward of her.

ON MAY 27 THE Bismarck came sight of King George V and the Rodney.

They opened fire at 25,000 yards and closed in, firing all the time to 3,200 yards.

In less than two hours it was all over.

Plumber, Driver New AFL Bosses

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—(AP)—A New York plumber and a Boston coal wagon driver merged yesterday as the undisputed bosses of the American Federation of Labor convention.

Control of the convention for the first time was in the hands of Daniel J. Tobin, of the teamsters, carried with it a union of the 15-man policy-making executive council which will run the affairs of the union.

At the convention drew to a close today, delegates admitted that the smooth-operating machine of the 12-year-old Tobin and 35-year-old James P. Murray, vice president, was the big revelation of the convention.

Together Messrs Tobin and Murray, who were elected to the executive council, it was Hatcher's with his effort to block what he called "degradation" of the executive council, it was Hatcher's who suffered most. He and his supporters have ruled the federation since 1935.

4,000 Passengers Held Up in Tunnel

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Frightened, soot-blackened subway riders scrambled to safety Wednesday through a smoky tunnel on the East River after a rush-hour train stalled and stranded an estimated 4,000 passengers.

Begrimed women collapsed as they reached the surface after crawling along catwalks and tracks and climbing 100-foot inclines or emergency stairways.

More than a dozen passengers were treated in hospital for shock. Others were revived by police squads at the scene.

Four trains, packed with off-going riders, were held in the tunnel more than an hour after the first train developed mechanical trouble and stalled.

As minutes passed, heat in the tunnel cars of the first train increased. Women became hysterical. Some fainted.

Finally Roy Fulmer, 23-year-old former sailor, opened the doors of the first train by emergency handles.

Scores from the first train followed Fulmer into the tracks. Some made their way to the street; others scrambled another track and were picked up by a passing train.

Woman Offers To Hang Japs

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Mary Magruder Mings, grey-haired librarian for the Army Corps of Engineers here, disclosed Wednesday she has offered to serve as hangman for Japanese war criminals in the Philippines "to help even the score for what they did to my brother."

Miss Mings' widower, half-brother, Maj. Gerald Hoffman, died in a prisoner-of-war camp, said she made the offer after reading in newspapers that no volunteers had been found to hang convicted Japanese.

"Now you have a volunteer," she wrote. "The score is evened. I can assure you a first class job."

CIO Solidly Backs U.S. Foreign Policy

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations made clear Wednesday it stands overwhelmingly behind State Secretary Marshall and the United States foreign policy. In one of the most violent debates held at a CIO convention in the last six years, the group cheered constantly for right-wing speakers who predicted their support of American policy and fired criticism at Russian and Communist methods.

Asia's Mata Hari On Trial as Spy

PEIPING, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The so-called "Mata Hari of Asia," the Manchurian princess, went on trial yesterday charged with spying for Japan. The accused is the daughter of the late Manchurian Prince Su. A foster-daughter of a Japanese she took the name of Yoshiko Kawashima.

The Hotenots of South Africa are an individual race whose origin archeologists and anthropologists have been unable to trace.

Most Reported Excellent Soviet Crops to Yield Big Surplus for Export

MOSCOW, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Official crop announcements indicate that the Soviet Union, steadily strengthening its economies with some other countries, is going to have a large amount of goods with which to trade and deal this year.

THIS DISPATCH had to pass through Soviet censorship and therefore contains only those facts and figures concerning the Russian economy which the Soviet government cares to tell the rest of the world.

1. The grain crop is the best since the war. 2. Sugar beet production is up sharply and the Ukraine is predicted this year to regain its position as the world leader in beet sugar.

3. The tobacco crop is fine—the best since before the war and perhaps the best on record. 4. The cotton crop appears excellent, certainly the best since before the German invasion.

5. Russia hardly ever has seen many potatoes. 6. The tea plantations of the far south, considerably expanded, have produced bumper crops.

7. The fish industry has reported record catches and with the fish-canning industry restored and built-up there should be an abundance of fish and sea food in the U.S.S.R. this year.

Farmers Awaiting New Wheat Price

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—(CP)—Western farmers today were anxiously awaiting the next statement of parliament, when action is expected to be taken on Agriculture Minister Gardiner's Tuesday prediction that additional payments of 20 cents a bushel will be paid to farmers on 1940 and 1941 wheat sent to the United Kingdom.

The increased price, mentioned in Mr. Gardiner's speech at Meadow Lake, Sask., followed a month's announcement that Canada would receive $2 a bushel for wheat sold to the United Kingdom, a 45-cent boost over the present $1.55, the price agreed upon when the wheat agreement was first signed between the two countries.

While $2 is the new price Canada is to receive from the United Kingdom for her wheat under the agreement, the payment to farmers is governed by a five-year pool administered by the Canadian Wheat Board.

At present farmers receive $1.25 a bushel. Mr. Gardiner's prediction was that in view of the increased price received by the United Kingdom it will be possible to boost the farmers' returns to $1.25.

It is estimated that raise in the United States destroy as much food as 200,000 farmers could produce in a year.

Record Enrolment Separate Schools

Edmonton Separate School Board received and gave consideration to school enrolment reports, reports on building program and statements of receipts and disbursements for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30 at the regular monthly meeting recently.

The report on attendance revealed that the enrolment had reached the highest point in the history of the school district, 3,012 pupils being in attendance for the month of September. This was an increase of 309 pupils over the corresponding month a year ago.

To accommodate the additional pupils, two rooms were recently opened—one at St. Patrick's School and one at St. Anthony's School and plans are being made for another room at St. Carmel's School in the near future.

The teaching staff will then number 116 regular teachers and eight special city.

Recover Bodies From Death Ship

POWELL RIVER, B.C., Oct. 17.—diver from the salvage tug "Salvor" Wednesday night recovered three bodies from the flooded cabin of the passenger motorship "Gulf Stream," which crashed into Dunsmuir Strait eight miles north of here Saturday night.

The diver, George Unwin, brought up the bodies of Mrs. John Elliot of Vancouver, her two-year-old son, Lyle, and three-year-old nephew, Douglas. Lyle, who was drowned and entrapped in one of the flooded cabins of the converted yacht was 18-month-old Jean David of Refuge Cove, B.C., whose body has not yet been recovered.

The body of the fifth victim, Mrs. S. Fitch of Refuge Cove, B.C., was recovered on Monday.

Police said dragging operations would begin Thursday for the remaining body which they believed may have been swept out of the flooded passenger boat.

Edmonton Man Given Jail Term

Kenneth Meagher, 24 years old, Edmonton, pleaded guilty in district court Thursday to a charge of being in possession of explosive substances used for making nitro-glycerine under circumstances giving rise to reasonable suspicion that he was having control of it was not for a lawful object. He was sentenced by His Honor, Judge J. P. McEwen, to serve two years and six months in the Prince Albert penitentiary.

Fred A. Lennox, Edmonton, entered a guilty plea to a charge of uttering a cheque for $300 knowing it to be forged. He was remanded by Judge McEwen to Oct. 25 for sentence.

Meagher, who was released from the penitentiary after serving a two-year term, was not represented by counsel, asked for leniency, but the judge was of the opinion that the accused did not show any disposition to take available work.

Meagher has a long criminal record dating back to 1940 when he was given a penitentiary sentence at the age of 17.

The second Dakota will be used for the dropping of supplies, and will be piloted by P.O. J. N. Hall, Nepean, Man., with P.O. T. B. Present Rate "Excessive"

Urban and rural municipalities in submissions to the Alberta government tax inquiry Thursday afternoon, stressed that the burden of taxation imposed upon land has become excessive, inequitable, and confiscatory in character, and requested that a greater share of education and social service costs be borne by the senior governments.

Earlier in the session the City of Edmonton suggested appointment of a permanent tax commission to deal with various problems of provincial-municipal taxation as they arise. It consists of study such equitable forms of taxation as a provincial sales tax which could be collected by province, and distributed to the municipalities, in relief of property taxes.

A brief from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association stressed the necessity for a reduction in expenditures by all taxing bodies, and that uncontrolled borrowing and excessive expenditures could no longer be tolerated if the province is to enjoy prosperity and security.

Speaking on behalf of Edmonton, John Hodgson, city commissioner, suggested that the principle of assessing taxes against property was outdated and unfair, and should be amended by the senior government. These services, he added, were allowances, old age pension, widows' allowances, mothers' allowances, and mental defective allowances. He was of the opinion the province should assume 50 per cent of the cost of children's aid, indigent relief, and health.

MR. HODGSON submitted that part of the cost of education should be a federal government responsibility, adding that as far as Edmonton was concerned, the cost of education was the crux of the taxation problem. He suggested that the provincial government should assume at least 50 per cent of education costs.

He urged also that the Dominion government should assume full responsibility for unemployment relief.

The Edmonton Property Owners' Protective Association, through Neil Primrose, Edmonton barrister, submitted that the burden of taxation imposed on land was excessive and confiscatory in character, and requested that a greater share of education and social service costs be borne by the senior governments.

That a considerable portion of the tax burden is due to the increase in cost of social services of a national and provincial character from which municipalities have a just claim to relief.

It was submitted that the present burden of taxation in urban centres discourages home ownership, commercial and industrial activity, the investment of capital, and is resulting in the progressive destruction of the value of real property.

ELIMINATION of the tax on personal property was advocated by R. L. Fenerty, Calgary, appearing on behalf of the Prairie Road Builders' Association.

He stressed that if this tax could be eliminated that exemption be made to as far as movable contractors' machinery is concerned.

J. J. Moriarty, Vancouver, president of the Alberta Air Freighters' Association, protested the tax on motor vehicles, stating it amounted to a personal property tax. He asked that for breeders were the only branch of agriculture so taxed, and no such legislation should be enacted.

The City of Wetaskiwin and the Wetaskiwin rural municipality submitted it was unjustifiable that 90 to 95 per cent of the cost of education should be borne by property owners, and it was suggested that 50 per cent would be a reasonable contribution from that source.

Lanier Regrets Leap Into Mexican League

DENTON, N. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Max Lanier, owner of what potentially is one of the best southpaw pitching arms in the National League, rued that day in 1946 when he leaped before he looked from St. Louis Cardinals into the Mexican League.

"I want to jump for the Cardinals," Lanier said last night, "but the Cardinals want to keep me here. I want to go back to St. Louis to pitch again."

"I don't know if I can do it," Lanier said. "But I would like to go back to St. Louis to pitch again."

"Why several of my friends on the Cards told me that they got hit by a pitch right after I left," Lanier said.

Mrs. Viljoen Visiting Here

By DOLORES KIMBALL

After a charming and distinguished career in the city of Toronto, Mrs. P. J. Viljoen, who is accompanying her husband, Mr. J. J. Viljoen, South African High Commissioner to Canada, on a western tour, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday.

Mrs. Viljoen had all her life in South Africa until she and her husband sailed for Canada two years ago. She finds Canadian people friendly, gracious and interesting. One of her first impressions was that the Canadian woman is well-informed in national and international politics, active in sports and yet capable of preserving herself as a completely feminine. Some African women, although active and confident in their life, are not so well-informed as the American Canadian woman does. She added that Canadian women are well-grounded and deem with a notable artistic consciousness.

Side in diplomatic circles is interesting for Mrs. Viljoen. The world is so demanding but she is not at all nervous. She is a very active and active person. In her Ottawa home, when asked about the difference between South African and Canadian women, she said that the Canadian woman is more active and confident in their life, are not so well-informed as the American Canadian woman does. She added that Canadian women are well-grounded and deem with a notable artistic consciousness.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION

Will Assemble Data

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Pinpointing the lateral location of the ever-shifting south magnetic pole and gathering extensive weather data are the first-year goals of Australia's Antarctic expedition, scheduled to get under way in mid-November.

By PLACING TEAMS of meteorological experts for a year on two lonely mid-ocean islands in the far south, the expedition hopes to get the first constant records of Antarctic weather conditions. A team of scientists, physicians, geologists and biologists will carry on their research.

Chief geophysicist J. M. Sawyer of the government mineral resources bureau said exact location of the south magnetic pole is of importance to navigators. He expects the information to be gathered will focus the southern areas of the magnetic maps of the world.

Operation plans for the first stages of Australia's five-year Antarctic research and exploration program are being pushed under the command of Group Capt. S. A. G. Campbell, who travelled to Antarctica with Sir Douglas Mawson's expedition in 1912.
